TRUCKEE NEWSPAPER INDORSES THURMAN FOR STATE SENATOR

By WALTER M. BARRETT
(Publisher Sierra Sun)

There are a few, but only a few state officials and legislators who take seriously the fact that the eastern portions of Nevada, Placer and Sierra counties are an important part of the State of California and worthy of the attention they deserve. When we find such an official it behooves us to give him or her our support and make a united effort to keep them in office. Such a man is Assemblyman Allen G. Thurman of Auburn. In our requests for legislative assistance in matters effecting this vast area of the state, we have found a real friend in Assemblyman Thurman. Thoroughly familiar with the needs of this region, being a resident of the area, Thurman has continued to devote his best efforts to promote progress for this entire district and at the same time in matters of state-wide concern has proven himself an able, conscientious law maker. In the forthcoming election to fill a seat in the state senate, left vacant when Jerrold Seawell was elected to the state board of equalization, Thurman will be a candidate and would make a worthy successor to Seawell. These two men have much in common and worked well as a team. We feel certain that Thurman will carry on the work which both he and Seawell have outlined and promoted.—Sierra Sun.

Miss Mary Bennetts, teacher in the Truckee Elementary School, is a house guest this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Kyle on Park avenue. Miss Bennetts is attending the Grass Valley Rural Workshop this week.

RALPH E. DEEBLE SWORN IN AS COUNTY CLERK

NEVADA CITY: Ralph E. Deeble, former chief deputy, was sworn in yesterday morning as clerk and auditor of Nevada County by Judge of the Superior Court James S. Snell. Deeble had previously posted the usual bond and qualified with Secretary of State Frank Jordan.

The new clerk was appointed by the Board of Supervisors Tuesday at their regular session. He succeeds Robert Noble McCormack, who died Sunday and who had held the position since 1931.

Deeble has worked as chief deputy clerk since McCormack first held the post. County business has been at a standstill until Deeble's swearing-in. His appointment will run until the expiration of McCormack's term, a period of three years and four months ending in January, 1951. He is 43. A graduate of Grass Valley High School, Deeble held only one job before entering the clerk's office. Upon graduation, he was employed by the Nevada County Bank, which later became the Bank of America.

The new clerk is secretary of Grass Valley Lodge No. 538, B.P.O. Elks, and secretary of the Board of Trustees of the Grass Valley Library. At present, he is assisted by Miss Rita Hutchison, Nevada City, and Mrs. Jean Kenney, Grass Valley.

FIRE HAZARD AT CRITICAL STAGE

NEVADA CITY: According to William French, law enforcement officer of Tahoe National Forest, the forest begins the most critical period of the summer as regards fire hazards.

In a statement yesterday, he said that the highest degree of cooperation would be required from hunters and other citizens in this area, in order to hold existing hazardous conditions to a minimum.

Geo. Raddue, Sr. Funeral Sat.

GRASS VALLEY: George Frederick Raddue, Sr., local business man, prominent in civic affairs, passed away at 2:30 a. m. Thursday at his home on Empire Hill, at the age of 65 years.

Raddue was a native of Delevon, Minnesota, where he was engaged in the automobile business before coming to Grass Valley twelve and a half years ago. In Grass Valley he continued in the garage business and in partnership with his son, George Raddue, Jr., who recently constructed a new and modern garage building on Main St.

Crowell of Sacramento; a brother, Al Yurbury of Tacoma, Washington. Also surviving are several grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Raddue was a member of the Grass Valley Rotary Club, the Grass Valley Brotherly Protective Order of Elks and President of the Automotive Trade Association of Nevada County. He was also a member of the Marine Locomotive Engineers.

During the last war he served on the Labor Relations Board of the Kaiser Corporation.

Besides his interest in the automobile trade, his greatest occupation was with his home and garden. His passing will be greatly mourned by his many friends and business associates.

Services will be held Saturday, Seturday, Sept. 6th, at 2 p. m. at the Hooper-Weaver Funeral Parlors and interment will be at Elm Ridge Lawn. Rev. Rudkin, now at College of Pacific in Stockton, will return to officiate at the ceremonies.

MUCH THIEVERY IN SERVICE CLUB BELLS

NEVADA CITY: The Lions Club, at their regular meeting Wednesday night, were entertained by Victor Veseley, quick-sketch artist, who delineated the features of several members.

The dreadful situation resulting from the theft, by the Grass Valley Lions of the Nevada City Lions dinner bell was discussed, and methods of retribution planned. A late report Thursday states that the Nevada City Rotary Club's dinner bell disappeared mysteriously that day. An authoritative source said that the Rotary bell would be returned when local Lions gained possession of their own dinner bell.

Dr. Cyril Kerrin, youth recreation chairman, reported that the Junior Rifle Club would soon resume its activities, with a scheduled shooting day September 14 at the range near the Gracie Mine.

Efforts were made to select a quartet but, because of the high tonal quality of all entrants, decision was deferred.

KRONEMEYER RESIGNS; HE WILL TAKE RENO CHAMBER POSITION

BOARD OF DIRECTORS RELUCTANTLY ACCEPTS MANAGER'S DECISION; WILL STAY TO SEPT. 30

GRASS VALLEY: Ray J. Kronemeyer has resigned from his position of Executive Manager of the Chamber of Commerce. He made his decision known at the regular meeting Wednesday of the Board of Directors at the Bret Harte Hotel. The directors voted to accept the resignation "with great reluctance."

It is to become effective on September 30. The manager of the chamber has accepted an appointment as Director of Public Relations for the Reno Chamber of Commerce.

Amid strong expressions of appreciation and regret, the directors on the motion of Brooks Hartman, voted Kronemeyer an extra two weeks' pay in lieu of a vacation which he had never taken. Art Remple's motion to tender the executive manager a farewell dinner was unanimously accepted.

Vice-President Louis Hartman, acting in the absence of President Daniel L. Hirsch, appointed a committee to examine applicants for the post, and asked Kronemeyer to recommend possible successors.

The committee includes: Brooks Hartman, William Durbrow, Gilbert Tennis, Wesley Donnenwirth and Gilbert Cramer.

The vote of acceptance was not unanimous. Mrs. Lola Richmond voted "no," saying that she hoped some means could be found to persuade the manager to remain.

Director Gilbert Cramer said that Kronemeyer's work had "gone a long way towards developing the city." Director William Durbrow remarked that the executive manager had "shown us the way to a better Chamber of Commerce" and continued that it was inevitable that a man of talents should be available for wider fields of endeavor.

According to Hugh Brown, Kronemeyer had worked "24 hours a day" in the community's behalf, and had to his credit accomplishments that few could match.

Former president of the chamber, Welsey Donnenwirth, predicted that, within a few years, Kronemeyer would be prominent in chamber of commerce work on a national scale.

Vice-President Louis Hartman asked that the resigning executive recommend a successor. In reply, Kronemeyer suggested that the committee be formed to interview possible candidates.

Donnenwirth, in a brief address of appreciation, stated that one year ago last October, he had been instrumental in employing Kronemeyer. The results, he said, had been "most gratifying" to him. He wished Kronemeyer luck in his new field.

Kronemeyer had held his post for two years. He had recently emerged victorious from a civic storm which followed the Fourth of July Frontier Days Celebration. One local faction held that the celebration was overly commercialized, while the other maintained it was one of the best ever put on.

In his new post, he will handle all publicity and promotional work for the Reno chamber. He is at present President of the Sacramento District of the Secretary-Managers Association of California. Previous to serving in the army during the war, he was executive secretary of the retail merchants of Michigan.

He is secretary-treasurer of the Community Service Council, treasurer of the Twin Cities Community Concert Association, chairman of the Golden Empire Centennial Committee, a member of the California State Chamber of Commerce Travel and Recreation Committee, and a member of Central and Northern California Chamber of Commerce Executives Association, as well as the Rotary Club, Elks and numerous other organizatons.

In a brief address, Kronemeyer stated that "he would always have a warm spot in his heart for Grass Valley. He said that, since his new position would call for his direction of the Reno convention bureau, he thought he would be able to direct a certain amount of tourist and sight-seeing travel to Grass Valley.

He called attention to this area's primary need: More aggressive stimulation of tourist trade.

According to William Brissard, president of the Reno Chamber,

COUNCIL HEARS WORRIED GROUP FROM JORDAN ST.

NEVADA CITY: A group of worried Jordan Street residents last night addressed the city council, meeting in regular session, upon the prospect of the sewage disposal plant to be erected at Deer Creek on the Ronnigen property.

Thomas Kelly and Max Flindt spoke of the dangers of offensive odors from the sludge unit of the disposal plant. Kelly remarked that he thought it possible that the new unit might give off gases that were either dangerous and inoffensive but not dangerous, or possibly a combination of both.

City Clerk George A. Calanan and Councilman Charles Veale reported that information from the State Health Department and from the engineering firm charged with constructing the plant, indicated that, if properly cared for, the process of sewage disposal would be entirely inoffensive.

Previous to the sewage discussion Hopkins Fitzpatrick, manager of the Empire-Star Mine, requested that a quiet zone be posted a block each side of the Miner's Hospital. His request was granted.

HOT DEBATE ON ROCK CRUSHING

GRASS VALLEY: Following a meeting of many residents of North Auburn Street with the city council Tuesday evening, at which much argument, often heated, was heard against the proposed rock crusher plant to be rebuilt by the F. S. Bastian Construction company near the end of North Auburn street.

City Attorney W. J. Cassettari, near the end of the discussion, recommended that the city council revoke the permit granted Bastian. Apparently the permit had been granted without it having been referred to the City Planning Commission. The council said it would state its decision next Tuedsay evening.

Mayor Allison Simmons said that often permits are issued over the counter. In the present instance the plans had been submitted to an informal meeting of the council, turned over to Public Works Superintendent Kenneth Manuel, who directed that a permit be issued.

STORES CLOSE FOR FAIR OPENING

NEVADA CITY: George C. Hansen, president of the Nevada City Chamber of Commerce, yesterday said that stores in Nevada City would close on Tuesday, September 9th, Admission Day.

Hansen's announcement followed a survey made by Secretary H. F. Sofge and himself. This decision of the merchants to close means that Grass Valley business houses will also close, because this decision had already been made by the Grass Valley chamber, contingent on Nevada City's closing.

This is expected to give Nevada County's Fair at Watt Park Tuesday an auspicious opening.

THURMAN BEST MAN FOR SENATOR

Of the field of five candidates for state senator, Assemblyman Allen G. Thurman is by far the best man for the job. Experience is a great qualifier, and Thurman is the only candidate with a long (11 years) successful record in our legislative halls.

Scoop Thurman is known to newspapermen throughout the state as publisher of one of the best weekly newspapers in the country. His Colfax Record is famous for its general excellence.

Thurman, with his comprehensive practical training in legislation, is the man who can get the most done, as senator, for this area.

Those who assess political prospects say that the contest is resolving itself into one between Thurman and Harold T. Johnson, potent ultra-liberal mayor of Roseville. Votes for candidates other than Thurman will thus tend to aid the Roseville man.

It is of primary interest to the Nevada City-Grass Valley area to be represented in the upper house by a senator of proven experience.

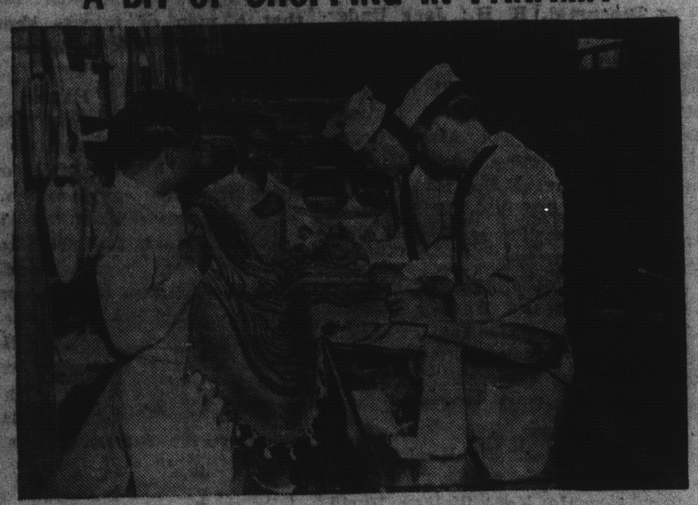
THE CHINA BLACK MARKET

Manila authorities are all hot and bothered about the proposed shipment by air of 377,000 ounces of Philippine gold to China, on which the shippers were to reap a profit of $6,000,000 over and above the $35 price.

When our gold producing countries declare their independence of the International Bankers and sell their gold for its actual value, then, and only then, will they get over their bother about "hot cargoes." Those who are restricting the gold price and not letting it seek its real value are the real criminals. That's why the black market flourishes. The black marketers have more right on their side than the price restricters.—California Mining Journal.

A BIT OF SHOPPING IN PANAMA



Naval Reservists on a training cruise of the USS Wisconsin spend part of their liberty ashore in Colon, Republic of Panama, selecting presents for the folks back home. They are among 600 Reservists from the Third, Fourth, and Ninth Naval Districts recalled to active duty, voluntarily, for two weeks of training aboard the "Wisky." The cruises give the Reserve sailors a chance to learn of the latest developments aboard this mighty warship. As a part of the Wisconsin cruises there are two days of liberty in Panama for sightseeing and shopping. Many of the men bring back perfumes, lingerie, alligator skin luggage, white shirts, summer suits and other items which are obtainable at prewar prices. (Official Navy Photograph)

P.C.A. UNMASKED AS SOCIALISTIC

By RALPH H. TAYLOR

Executive Secretary Agricultural Council of California

Words make wonderful masks. Some people and some groups use them artfully to conceal the real meanfng and purpose of the cause or philosophy they espouse. Others employ them, in catchall phrases, to gather support from the masses who are too casual to analyze the true relationship of cleverly strong nouns and verbs and adjectives.

But anyone who uses words with reckless disregard of facts or who, even sincerely, employs them to fabricate a world of dreams, must stand the consequences if they collide with hard reality.

Take the case of the "Progressive Citizens of America." That organization, successor of the CIO Political Action Committee, met in Chicago recently and issued a communique to the press that was disseminated throughout the land by the news services.

The PCA told Americans that socialization of all industry was the only hope of salvation from capitalistic domination. Of course, the PCA didn't use those exact words, nor did it add that this happens to be Moscow's national and international philosophy. Neither did it once refer to England's current experiences with a brand of beneficent Socialism that today is forcing the British government to take over control not only of the machines but of the very lives of its subjects in a desperate effort to bolster falling production.

The PCA made misleading statements concerning three major industries:

1. Coal. What the PCA said was this: Private ownership has proved wasteful and inefficient; it has failed to provide a decent livelihood.

What the PCA did NOT say was this—and the facts are matters of statistical record: Among 43 industries, anthracite coal mining pays the highest average wage—$1.64 an hour—which is 2-5 higher than for all manufacturing. Bituminous coal wages are fourth highest among the 43.

2. Railroads. Under private ownership, the PCA said, they have failed to modernize their equipment and operations; they practice discrimination in rates; and their employees are ill-paid.

What the PCA did NOT say—and here again the facts are there to substantiate it: Railroad men received a rate of wages materially higher in 1946 than in the war years themselves. Last year, average straight time was paid at the rate of $1.12 an hour, compared with 93 cents in 1945, 74 cents in 1939, and 61 cents in 1921.

3. Power. The PCA contended private ownership falls to meet the power needs of the nation; it has not reduced rates sufficiently; its profits are excessive; and its pay is too low.

Well, what are the facts? Electric power and gas company profits were 51st down in the list of 70 types of corporate businesses in 1946; wages paid ranked 9th among 43 industries. And here in California, farmers especially know the truth about private operation of power facilities. Rates went down $8,000,000 in one year alone—1945-46. Reductions totaling $40,369,678 were made in electric, gas, telephone, water, and steam rates in the eleven years from July, 1935, to June, 1946.

California farmers use more farm electricity than all the other 47 states put together—and they get the service, in at least one company and that the largest server of farmers, under a policy that brings the lines to the farms for only the cost of the monthly service. The company gets its return over a 15-year period from the rates charged—and these rates are the lowest in the nation.

It is hardly likely that these facts will trouble the conscience or affect the philosophy of the PCA. When facts get in the way, the social dreamers prefer to side-step or ignore thme—and to continue painting a roseate picture of the Paradise of Socialism or Communism.

Words may fool a lot of people, but facts will convince many more. And, unfortunately for the PCA, facts still speak louder than words.

L. A. COPPER BLONDE GETS CENTENNIAL CROWN

SACRAMENTO: Miss Toni Doyle of Los Angeles was proclaimed California's Centennial Girl in coronation ceremonies at the California State Fair today. Winner over 42 county contestants, Miss Doyle will act as an official California State Fair and Centennial emissary, visiting every state in the union for the next three years.

Miss Doyle, 21, is a native of California and an honor student at UCLA. She is a graduate of Los Angeles High School. She was home coming queen at UCLA in 1946.

A copper blond, the Centennial queen is 5 feet 7½ inches tall and weighs 125 pounds. Vital measurements are: waist, 25 inches; bust, 35 inches; hips, 35 inches and shoulder width, 19½ inches.

Miss Doyle more than met the requirements of being a native of the state of California. Her mother, Mrs. I. B. Doyle, nee O'Donnell, is a native of San Francisco and her father was born in Glendale.

The Centennial queen, whose particular ambition is the stage and modeling, said she was and will spurn any offers from the screen. She has worked as a photographic and fashion model in which field, she said, she would like to continue.

TONOPAH DIVIDE CO. BUYS LUCKY QUARTZ MINE

NEVADA CITY: Tonopah Divide Mining Co., who recently purchased the Lucky Consolidated Quartz mine, which adjoins their Gaston mine in Nevada County, Calif., reports that it covers approximately an additional half-mile of the Gaston vein system and assures the company of many years ore supply.

Mining Steadily

The property has been paid for in cash and mining has been going on steadily for the past three months. The ore bins at the Gaston are full and storage in the stopes and chutes is being built up.

The plant, consisting of a jaw crusher, ten 1250-pound stamps, a six-foot Hardinge ball mill, duplex classifier, a Bendelari jig, Fag flotation cells, table concentrator and amalgamator, is nearly complete. Diesel power units have been installed and milling operations will start in the near future.

Miners Foundry Supplies Ball Mill

Ball mill equipment was installed by the Miner's Foundry and Supply Co. of Nevada City, which is also supplying new 30-cu. ft. side-dump ore cars. A Mancha electric mule is being used for ore transport in the mile long tunnel and tramway. A new Sullivan compressor has been added to enable large scale mining operations.

Approximately 22 men are employed at present and more will be added as soon as the new bunk house is completed.

THE - Diary of a 49'er

FROM THE BOOK EDITED BY C. L. CANFIELD

MAY 11, 1851—Sure enough, Pard, Lawyer Dunn and Tom Buckner rode into the camp before dark, driving a pack-mule loaded with all kinds of grub. It wasn't long before a good hot meal was prepared; there were willing cooks, and we assured the emigrants that their troubles were over. The poor girl was too sick to eat; in fact, was almost unconscious. Her sufferings were too much for Buckner and he swore he would have a doctor there by midnight, if he had to bind him hand and foot and bring him by main force. Buckner is a good fellow if he is a gambler and we knew he would keep his word. The girl's mother coaxed her to swallow a couple of spoonfuls of brandy—Frank Dunn luckily had brought a flask along—and that seemed to revive her. They all felt better after the meal and we built up a big camp fire and set around it listening to the story of their adventures and hardships until Tom got back. Sure enough, he brought Dr. Hunt along with him, who after examining the girl said that it was a case of exhaustion and prostration for want of proper nourishment and that the brandy we had given her was exactly what she needed. Her father broke down completely and sobbed like a child when the doctor told him there was a chance for her recovery. We left them in good spirits, promising to send them up some more grub the next day. Pard advi to stay where they were for two or three days, until t recruited, and then to come into town and we woul they got a fair start. This is a land of plenty, but the and starvation is not very far away. We all thou the Donner party, and it was a coincidence that not h from where these emigrants were camped was the g young girl who was brought out from Starvation one of the rescuing parties that went to the relief of ners, and who died and was buried on the ridge. logs has been piled around it and it is known as Grave."

MAY 25, 1851—On Thursday last a fellow ro haste to the claim and inquired if one of us was and when Pard answered that he was a deputy sheri said he was coming in on the trail from Kanaka just after crossing the river found two men dead; and evidently murdered that morning as they we yet. Pard left me to clean up while he went dow to summon a posse, and the man went on to town the sheriff. By the time he got bck with his men, me, I was ready and we started for the place. W to Blue Tent we learned that a party horseback— cans and a white man—had been seen before no the hill and making through the woods for the rid five o'clock in the afternoon before we got to whe lay and there was everything to prove that they had dered. One was shot through the head and the times in the back. They were Americans, and as no arms or money on them there was no doubt the robbed. The sheriff arrived about dusk, but there ing to do except set a watch to guard the bodie coyotes and send a man up the trail to find out w dered men were. Our party tramped back to the out, but we were lucky enough on the way to ge and coffee from the miners at Blue Tent. We le ple of days later that the men were miners from N Camp; that they had cleaned up about seven thou between them and were on their way to Nevada when they were killed. We buried them down of the river, as it was impossible to pack their town. Pard with my horse is off with the sheriff murderers and has been away since Friday. Football Focus

What teams will be the unbeatables of the 1947 football season in collegiate circles? The reply contains the names of Notre Dame, Michigan, U.C.L.A. and a few others. However, would it startle anyone too much if your writer predicts that all three of the forementioned will meet at least one defeat during the season close at hand.

Every team facing Notre Dame will be out for—, you know what. Bear in mind the above expression is merely a figure of speech but a Benders have not as heavy a schedvery significant one. The South ule as some of the Big Ten and coast teams but will meet at least three very potent elevens, any one of which I predict will upset the invincible squad from Notre Dame.

Michigan has a very tough road ahead and despite their wealth of experienced material on hand, one of the Wolverine scores will be bad news for the Ann Arbor press. I feel squad anxious to avenge their defeat at the hands of the Illini. They will have a good successful season, probably losing only one game. That upset could well come from a certain group of Trojans finally readjusted after several hectic war years. The Westwood campus is in a victory mood, however, and if the nation's leading sportswriters, a group which doesn't include yours truly, are correct in their predictions, U.C.L.A. will again win the coast and an invitation to the Rose Bowl.

After the second or third week of the season with schedules well under way a more solid observation of the strengths of the various schools will be made and many opinions may rapidly change. The sportswriters that excel in generalizing and double talk are bound to be looked upon as keen observers and students of the game.

As for pickingt the all-America for 1947 the following are what I consider to be the most promising candidates for first team honors. Naturally this prediction like anyone else's could be subjected to lenghty and even logical controversy.

At quarterback let's again give the nod to Johnny Lujack, almost a unanimous choice on most of last year's selections. He is a field general unsurpassed and also offensively and defensively dangerous to all opponents.

Fullback Ollie Cline of Ohio State, and incidentally OSU has another behemoth in Joe Whstler, is a logical contender for the fullback duties. Many of you probably remember Cline's previous record when bulldozing for the Buckeyes.

Halfbacks provide a real problem but just for record's sake let's put Chappius of Michigan at one, and Minisi of Penn in the other halfback slot. These boys are tried and true threats.

Bill Stem in his All America preview selection for a first team backfield choice agrees only on Lujack as the countries' foremost quarterback. My contention that Penn, Michigan and Ohio State will be up in the countries' leading ten, supports my leaning towards the half back and fullback selections above.

For an outstanding forward wall, let's start building some around Navy's Dick Scott, a man highly respected by opposing stalwarts.

Joe Steffy of Army is our choice for guard and probably everyone else's. Teaming with Steffy will be a southern gentleman from Alabama by the name of John Wozniak. You'll read a great deal about this chap from the Crimson Tide before the season terminates late this fall.

might mention here that if you like good football, go and watch the Crisler coached boys, they are well coached and play a style of ball that keeps you balancing on the edge of the unupholstered stadium benches.

U.C.L.A. has an experienced, big, Now how about a couple of big rough n' tough tackles to round out that forward wall. There's lots of them that are veritable Gibraltars but in as much as I expect Jeff Cravath to have his gang seated up front or thereabouts, let's sign up little Johnny Ferraro of Southern California. On the other side let's fall in line with the general trend and throw in another convincing Irishman, namely, George Connor of Notre Dame.

There you have it, add Len Ford of Michigan to one end and Barney Poole of Mississippi to the other and you've got a team, and what a team.

Represented on our All-America eleven for 1947 are boys from the east, midwest, west and south. Every selection was difficult and shortly I may be proven a wee bit out of line but anyway the sincere attempt has been made, so be it, I hope.

KRONEMEYER RESIGNS TO TAKE RENO CHAMBER JOB

Kronemeyer was chosen from a "field of more than two dozen applicants." Establishment of the new position of director of public relations, Brussard said, would mark a "greatly broadened publicity program designed to bring thousands of new visitors to Reno."

The Reno Chamber has raised $100,000 as their budget for this fiscal year, the major portion of which will be spent on publicity and advertising.

Kronemeyer expects to attend the meeting of the National Association of Commercial Organization Secretaries scheduled in Colorado Springs for October 12-15.

He is to speak to the general membership of the Reno Chamber of Commerce next Tuesday.

Previous to Kronemeyer's announcement, the directors heard William Wilson and Leonard Stenberg describe a new type of vocational education. A course in retail merchandising and selling is being inaugurated at the high school, with Stenberg in charge.

The new course calls for 10 or 15 hours of classroom instruction per week to be coupled with an equal amount of time spent, gaining actual business experience in local stores and other retail establishments. The latter time would include payment of the state minimum wage of 65 cents per hour.

Steinert, who explained the new course in detail, said that it would fill an urgent need in the community business structure—the demand for properly trained sales personnel in retail establishments. He asked local merchants to cooperate by listing opportunities for part-time sales help.

Why blame politicians for the nation's problems when voters, if they are smart enough, can control their government and direct its policies?

Aggression on the part of minorities inevitably meeting head on with aggression on the part of majorities. It may not look likely at times but it comes about.

One of life's minor mysteries relates to the reason why some people sing.

Nearly everybody has an idea that life has been somewhat stingy with rewards.

Kid Tamblyn knocked Battling Hallet out in the sixth round of an exciting exhibition held in the shed on Alexander street in Nevada City, owned by Charles Alford. It was not exactly a knockout but Tamblyn gave Hallet such a bloody nose that he refused to go back into the ring for further punishment. Mr. Alford acted as referee.

E. H. Thompson, secretary of the Chain Groceterias, Inc., announced the opening of their new store No. 5 in Nevada City. Mr. Thompson, Mr. M. W. Evers, the president; and Mr. Frank Ghidotti, the local manager, had been working day and night to stock the spacious shelves with the merchandise which was bought fresh from the wholesalers and shipped in via the Nevada county railroad.

With the placing on record of deeds to the properties of the Banner Consolidated Mines, Inc., covering the bulk of the Banner Hill country adjajent to Nevada City information from reliable sources was to the effect that mining operations on a major scale were about to begin which would dwarf anything previously attempted in the Nevada City district. The deeds which also included the properties of the Nurambagua company, were placed on record by A. D. Foote, president of the Western Mines Consolidated which had been working for some years to effect a consolidation of all the properties from the Champion to the Banner Hill and Central Consolidated group. The consolidation had reached the point that practically all the mineral property in a strip four miles long and two miles wide was owned or under option by the Western Consolidated interests. The Champion, Providence and Mountaineer properties were included. Major operations that would ultimately entail the expenditure of upwards of a million dollars were scheduled to begin within sixty days.

50 YEARS AGO

Company C of the Nevada Light Guard, under command of Lieutenant Bowerman, was leaving for the annual encampment of their regiment in Santa Cruz. Captain Nihell accompanied by Thomas Penrose and Charles Grimes as his valets, left a day or so earlier to attend to special duties assigned to him.

Ed. W. Schmidt of the firm of Schmidt Bros., cigar and tobacco dealers in Nevada City, was appointed manager of the Colts Baseball club.

W. E. Rice, architect and builder, had just completed a seven room house for Peter Purdon on upper E. Broad street. The new residence was equipped with all modern accessories and was built for $1500. Mr. Rice was also given a contract to build a house for William Hosken on Piety Hill near Judge Walling's residence. George Turner and J. Jeffries and the sub-contracts for the plumbing and plastering, and Sweeney & Pierce were given the painting job. Full cost of the building including labor and material was $2300.

The following horsemen with their horses arrived at Glenbrook near Grass Valley for the racing season: J. B. Haggin, Tom Boyle of Sacramento, C. Kerr of Bakersfield, Owens Bros. of Fresno, John Fields of Fresno; Judge Tam of Ingleside, R. Hughes of Helena, Montana, J. Chitson of Gilroy, G. W. Richards of Stanislaus county, N. S. Hall and Co. of Oakland and T. Mulqueen of Denver, Colorado. The Harris starting gate, then in general use on the eastern tracks was to be introduced and the betting privileges were to be in the hands of respectable people. An attendance of five or six thousand people was expected daily during the two weeks running.

Nine teams passed through Nevada City in one day loaded with sugar pine lumber. The regret was voiced that the shipments would be larger if there were a railroad connecting with the Central Pacific. The Grass Valley Union commented that the Nevada City Transcript had railroad on the brain to which the Transcript replied that they did not propose to get it off the brain until a company was organized to get it on the road from Nevada City and Grass Valley to somewhere.

The people of Sebastopol petitioned the Board of Supervisors for a new school district to be formed out of portions of that place and the Sweetland district. The petition was granted and trustees were elected and steps immediately taken for the construction of a new school house. A tax of $2000 was voted by the citizens of the new district and an assessor and collector elected. The new trustees, N. C. Miller, district clerk; Major John S. McBride and Geo. C. Spooner held a meeting to open sealed bids for the construction of the new building which when completed and furnished was expected to be the finest of its kind in the state. The contract was awarded to T. C. Peters.

Mr. Bullard engaged Carters Brass band to furnish music at the skating rink in Nevada City for the pleasure of the skaters on Wednesday and Saturday evenings. Each evening's entertainment concluded with a schottische and waltz.

Preliminary estimates indicate civilian per capita income in California last year was $1441.
